

Online Bible School

In this digital age, it is a must to have web-based Bible study guides. There are several key factors that are essential to a successful website.

1. All Bible lesson websites must be mobile-friendly. The student should be able to access the guides on a desktop, laptop, tablet, and mobile phone.
2. All Bible lesson websites need to be interactive, which means contact between the student and the instructor. There are two types of interaction:
 - a. Interaction between the student and instructor with every Bible lesson via the Bible study website.
 - b. Interaction as the student and/or instructor chooses, via the website or e-mail.
3. If a Bible study website has self-grading response questions and the student can move at their own pace through the Discover Bible Guides, then it is essential that at the end of every study guide and response question section that contact information is provided.

A BIBLE STUDY WEBSITE THAT YOU CAN USE—BECOME AN ONLINE WITNESS!

The Voice of Prophecy Bible School has a web-based Bible study site that can be found at www.bibleschools.com. The website is mobile-friendly.

This website is designed and programmed in such a manner that individuals, local churches, and other Adventist entities can operate their own online Bible School via our website. Here's how it works:

1. An individual, church, or international entity contacts the Voice of Prophecy for application information. To do this, send an email to discoverschool@vop.com or go to www.bibleschools.com/apply.
2. The applicant needs to get a letter of approval from their church pastor.
3. The applicant will receive a web address for their school once the application is approved.
4. The applicant can advertise their school's URL on social media and in newspapers, flyers, etc. Anyone who signs up at that web address will be the applicant's student.
5. The Voice of Prophecy keeps the website programming, security, fixes, etc., up-to-date. There is no cost to the applicant to participate.
